

ORDINATION OF MATTHEW POHLMAN

Diaconate Ordination marks the final stage of seminary formation before being ordained a priest. During our pilgrimage, we will have the incredible opportunity to witness American seminarians lay down their lives on the floor of St. Peter's Basilica in service to God and His Church, including the Archdiocese of Omaha's own seminarian: Matthew Pohlman. Matthew is from St. Gerald's Parish in Ralston and first entered the seminary in 2016. In 2020, he was sent to Rome to continue his seminary formation at the Pontifical North American College. His parents are Michele and Brent Pohlman. Please keep Matthew and his classmates in your prayers as we prepare for this pilgrimage!

FR. JOHN NORMAN, PILGRIMAGE CHAPLAIN

"I'm excited to have you join me for a pilgrimage to Rome. Taking friends to experience the grace-filled diaconate ordination in the heart of the Church in Rome and to my alma mater the Pontifical North American College is a privilege."

Ordained a priest for the Archdiocese of Omaha 2013, Father Norman spent five years living in Rome, studying theology at the Gregorian University. Among other experiences, he was in St. Peter's Square for the election of Pope Francis and attended the canonization of St. John Paul II and St. John XXIII. He serves as pastor of several parishes in North Central Nebraska.
